(57) Abstract:

PURPOSE: To efficiently distribute individual information to plural systems issuing individual information recording media.

CONSTITUTION: Individual information on such as membership Nos./names/ addresses/face photographs, etc, is copied as a record per individual from a data copying device 55 and is stored within a data storage device 54. A distributing device main body part 51 sets a form attribute showing the expression forms (English characters/Japanese characters/binary data) of the assigned data for every field composing the record and an issue attribute specifying an issue processing system for which the assigned data is required. Subsequently, after the verification of the practically inputted data is performed based on the set form attribute, the data assigned to each field is distributed to each issue processing system 10 to 40 via a network
